Grace, Nervous Prince Wed in Church; Leave In Yacht for Honeymoon

Rainier Has Help In Placing Ring On Bride's Finger

MONACO (AP)—Beautiful Grace Kelly and a nervous Prince Rainier III became man and wife in the eyes of the Roman Catholic church as well as the civil law today.

A few hours later, they left their pink palace on their honeymoon—a lazy Mediterranean cruise on a white yacht banked with flowers.

Grace went at one point in the colorful religious ceremony. And the bashful prince had to have help in getting the wedding band on his bride's finger.

But, after a buffet dinner and the traditional cutting of the wedding cake in the palace gardens in the afternoon, they finally slipped away on their honeymoon.

When they departed from the throngs of well-wishers, family and friends, both were wreathed in happy smiles.

During the wedding service, the ring caught on Grace's knuckle. The prince's persistent pushing only made it worse.

Slowly, Grace's right hand stole down, moved his and worked the ring just over the knuckle. Then she gave her hand back to Rainier and he pressed the ring on to its right position. Afterward, he hugged uncomfortably at his collar.

House Group Approves Soil Bank Program

Surprise Action Comes at Secret Committee Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee voted today to give the Eisenhower administration $1,200,000,000 to start its farm soil bank program at once.

The surprise action came at a secret, hurriedly called committee session.

The vote was 36-7, with 1 Democrat, Rep. J. Vaughan Gary (Va.)—reportedly voting with 6 Republicans against the proposal.

Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said the money would enable Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson to put into effect under existing laws exactly the same soil bank plan that had been contemplated in the farm bill vetoed Monday by President Eisenhower.

Rep. Jamie L. Whitten (D-Miss.), chairman of a subcommittee that drafted the money bill, said there was one exception to this. He said that, as far as he knows, Benson will not be able to make advance payments to farmers this year for soil bank commitments for the next year.

Democrats had bitterly assailed this feature of the administration's plans as an effort to buy the votes of farmers in the 1956 presidential and congressional elections.

The surprise action in the House came while Benson was testifying before the Senate Agriculture Committee in defense of the administration's decision to boost price supports on corn, rice and wheat at the same time the President vetoed the farm bill.

Benson said the supports were increased suddenly because of their importance to the national economy.

Fire Damages Willie Dixon Home

The home of Willie Dixon at 1204 South Feazel street was damaged by fire this morning. Fire Chief L. G. Martin estimated the damage at about $1,500.

The fire department received the call at 7:50 a. m. and both trucks were at the scene for a while. The old truck was sent back after standing by for 10 or 15 minutes however.

Martin said the fire, of unknown origin, started in a pantry and swept upward into the attic. There was fire and water damage to two rooms and water damage to another.

Spectators at the scene, however, remarked about the good work of the department in keeping the blaze from spreading.

All furnishings, except two stoves and an electric refrigerator, were carried safely from the house.

Canvass Reveals 9,716 Votes in County; 5,131 GOP, 4,585 Democrat

A total of 9,716 ballots was cast in the April 10 primary by Saline county voters, the canvass completed yesterday revealed.

Of these, 5,131 were Republican, 4,585 were Democratic.

The official canvass made but one change in the unofficial results, although some of the total figures varied.

Only change was in the Democratic nomination for coroner, where James Thornton of Carrier Mills was declared the winner. The canvassed vote showed Thornton with 1,532, Giles with 1,472 and James B. Woodard with 1,090.

The unofficial total had shown Giles winning, 1,570 to 1,532, a margin of 38 votes, but a 100-vote error was discovered in Harrisburg Precinct 11, where Giles' total was given as 155 in copying off the results for the press and the county clerk, whereas it should have been 55.

The canvass also revealed a number of write-in votes that had not been reported in the unofficial totals. It also upped Sen. Estes Kefauver's write-in vote for Democratic President from 302 to 348.

PMW Rejects Local's Proposal On Welfare Fund

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Delegates to the Progressive Mine Workers of America convention have rejected a resolution giving each local union authority to administer its own welfare fund.

The resolution said there was "too much confusion and expense" in the present welfare administration and "no plan, so far, has been acceptable to our entire membership."

The resolution was submitted by Local 170 of Harrisburg.

The convention also adopted resolutions:

Ordering local secretary treasurers to withhold claims for $200 death benefits until after claim and payment has been made for the $500 welfare fund death payment.

Giving PMWA districts outside Illinois the right to vote on officers governing the international organization.

Giving board members the right to be heard but not to vote, at conventions.

Polls Will Be Open at School Noon to 7 p. m.

Statement by Board Stresses Need For More Revenue

Voters of the Harrisburg Township high school district will go to the polls tomorrow and vote on a proposed tax rate increase for educational purposes.

Voting will be from 12 noon until 7 p. m. at the high school.

"The board of education has been quite conservative in operating the school on the available revenue and yet there comes a time when it is impossible to continue," a statement by the board declares. "Even the 15-cent increase in rate made possible by the last state legislature will not supply sufficient revenue to meet current operating expenses, not to mention retirement of the $70,000 debt which has been incurred."

"Therefore, your board of education has been forced to ask for a special election to be held April 20, 1956, for the purpose of increasing the present tax rate from 65 per cent to 86 per cent for educational purposes."

Debt Piles Up

The voters have gone to the polls twice before to vote on an increase and twice the proposal has been turned down, the last time by a handful of votes. The board of education foresees what would happen if the increase was not voted and it has happened: School teacher salaries have been held to a ridiculously low maximum compared with other schools, and the school will have piled up a debt of about $70,000 during this year and last.

One big reason for the deficit has been a four million dollar decrease in property valuations in the district during the past two years, and a decrease in state aid over the past few years.

One of the best ways to tell that the school has been operating soundly and economically is a chart supplied by the Illinois Education association, which gives the amount of revenue per pupil for southern Illinois schools during the last school year.

Comparison to Other Schools

The Harrisburg figure was $175.75 per pupil, the lowest in the list. Some of the other figures listed by the IEA were:

Equality $336.64, Carbondale $376.64, Centralia $309.97, Mt. Vernon $293.38, Flora $327.25, Valer $425.83, Benton $247.27, Herrin $248.83, Rosiclare $277.57, Lawrenceville $374.21, Carmi $355.12, Eldorado $280.14, Anna-Jonesboro $234.36, Carrier Mills $250.61, Thompsonville $283.24, Cave-in-Rock $228.73, Vienna $269.38, Galatia $238.30.

The board announced that the 86-cent rate would produce revenue of $276.39 per pupil, less than the average southern Illinois school received a year ago.

About Town

By TIMOTHEUS T.

This is just a brief message. So that the school may keep and secure teachers of high caliber, who now can do much better financially at almost any other high school.

So that your boys and girls and the boys and girls of the future may have their characters molded by competent teachers, who are capable of teaching them something.

So that the high school can stop operating at a deficit which probably would be ever-increasing.

Please go to the polls at the high school tomorrow afternoon and vote to increase the tax rate.

The Amazing Demolition

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Never in the 37-year history of the Soviet Union have the Russian people been called on to make so wrenching a shift in attitude as they are now being asked to make toward the late Josef Stalin, once the "hero of the Russian fatherland."

Pravda's 10,000-word editorial evidently signals a sweeping propaganda campaign aimed at utterly destroying the image of Stalin held by 200 million Russians for two decades.

Soviet citizens long ago grew accustomed to quick twists in the Kremlin's line. They have seen a host of heroes topple into the dust. But none of Stalin's eminence.

For a long, long time, Stalin was revered—officially—as a god. His picture hung in home and office and public place. He was the great man of the Soviet schoolbooks, from primer to history.

Only Lenin was on his plane. The citizens had to say it over and over: "Stalin is our good, kindly father. He is our leader, our great soldier, our protector."

Now, suddenly, by the order of Nikita Khrushchev and his other successors, Stalin is being portrayed as a villain guilty of "monstrous excess" against the Soviet people, a fumbling commander who nearly cost Russia victory in World War II, a "blood brother" of the executed, unlamented Lavrenty Beria, once chief of police and now branded a traitor.

In 10,000 words, a lot of mud can be thrown, and Pravda has hurled it with full vigor against the once alabaster image. If any flecks of white were left showing, the oversight surely will be corrected in the ensuing days.

So shocking a reversal was bound to have far-reaching repercussions among the Russian people. It is no wonder that quite well substantiated reports have filtered to the outside of riots by pro-Stalinists in the late leader's native Georgia.

But if Stalin can be blackened as the present Kremlin crew intends, then he will serve beautifully as a permanent scapegoat for all the errors of Khrushchev and his comrades.

If pressures have been building up in any alarming degree as result of decades of repression, the current rulers may think they have now eased them by fastening the blame on Stalin. Their corollary hope is, of course, that they themselves will thus be whitewashed.

Furthermore, Khrushchev understands that his own stature is measured by those who have gone before. If Stalin is seen as a giant, magnitude of achieving similar greatness are perhaps not too great. But if Stalin can be pulled down, then Khrushchev and his accomplices may loom taller by comparison.

In all the bloody history of Communist Russia, this is one of the boldest adventures in tyranny ever undertaken. The free world will stand by with fascinated gaze to see if it is pulled off.

Detroit Teen-Age Wolf Pack Admits Slayings, Rapes

DETROIT — A teen-age "wolf-pack" confessed Wednesday to at least 25 rapes and one murder of the gang-admitted bludgeoning slaying of an elderly woman, police said.

The gang included three 15-year-olds and youths aged 17 and 19 who terrorized the city's near East Side for nearly six months.

Homicide detectives said they believed more boys were involved and that the five held were questioned further before charges were placed.

A strapping, 200-pound 17-year-old admitted the slaying of 64-year-old Mrs. Eleanor Biegalski last Oct. 15 by smashing her skull with a brick, police said.

Other members of the colored gang admitted criminally assaulting at least 25 women, including a Negro nurse, detectives said. "The gang's specialty was one of the most vicious things I've ever heard of," said Homicide Inspector Thomas Cochill.

DREW PEARSON Says: Bulganin And Khrushchev Advised To Pat Children On Head In London: Tom Dewey Potent In Washington But Lays An Egg In Havana; Dewey Fails To See President Batista.

WASHINGTON. — The Kremlin has finally found a good use for the two British spies, Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean.

It is no secret among Moscow's foreign diplomats that Burgess and MacLean have been disappointed with their lot since they deserted the West. They have been given minor jobs working on English-speaking propaganda and are kept under constant surveillance.

Recently, however, they were called in to advise on the important question of what Bulganin and Khrushchev should do during their visit to England to best endear them to the British public.

According to diplomatic advice received here, Burgess and MacLean are reported to have come up with these recommendations: Pat children on the head, get photographed as much as possible with pretty girls, and quote Winston Churchill and Shakespeare frequently.

Note — Apparently Burgess and MacLean also gave this advice to Georgi Malenkov because one of the first things he did in England was to visit Shakespeare's birthplace and one of his most publicized photos was that of two British girls bussing him on each cheek.

DEWEY-GO-ROUND

Thomas E. Dewey, attorney-at-law and private citizen now slides in and out of Washington as quietly and efficiently as he used to slide from the Hotel Roosevelt in New York to the governor's mansion in Albany. He gets things done.

With three of his own men in the Eisenhower cabinet (Dulles, Brownell and Mitchell), plus one of his appointees on the Supreme Court (Justice Harlan), plus his onetime press secretary, Jim Hagerty, in the White House, Dewey should be able to get things done in Washington.

When it comes to foreign affairs, however, Thomas E. Dewey has a record of laying a great big egg.

When the Turkish government hired him at a fee of $150,000 to get them a $300,000,000 American loan, Dewey came up with a paltry $25,000,000. Even though Dewey got John Foster Dulles his job as secretary of state, a paltry $25,000,000 was all he could squeeze out of his friends.

Again, last week in Cuba, the man who materially helped get the nomination was unable even to see President Batista. It's a complicated but significant story.

CUBAN SUGAR-WOLF

Dewey went to Cuba on behalf of Loeb, Rhoades, and Co., New York brokers, to try to take over the Cuban-American Sugar company, largest in Cuba.

Behind Dewey, at least in the minds of Cubans, was Julio Lobo, whose name in Spanish means wolf, and who generally is regarded as the sugar-wolf of Cuba. Lobo owns 12 sugar mills, controls a big bank of Cuba's sugar output, and had been buying up stock in Cuban-American with a view to taking it over. Associated with him was Dewey's client, John Loeb.

However, Lobo has unorthodox ideas about taking Cuba out of the international sugar agreement. So, for this reason plus the fact that Cuba doesn't want to encourage a sugar monopoly, President Batista blocked Lobo the wolf's raid on Cuban-American. He sent word to Lobo last January that his acquisition of the company would not be sanctioned.

At this point, April 5, there entered upon the scene: Ex-Governor Dewey. It was announced that John Loeb had bought out Lobo's minority interest in Cuban-American, and to convince the Cuban government that this was a fact, Thomas E. Dewey dutifully went to Havana.

At this point some unfortunate things happened: Arthur Gardner, our well-meaning ambassador to Cuba, gave a dinner for Dewey, April 9. To the dinner he invited Julio Lobo, the man who supposedly had bowed out of the sugar deal. Earlier that day sugar-wolf Lobo had married the German fiancée to whom he had long been sugar daddy. Despite the honeymoon launched only that day, however, Lobo was at the dinner — along with Dewey and John Loeb, the man from whom supposedly he had parted company.

Dewey's job in Havana was to convince the Cuban government that sugar-wolf Lobo was out of the Cuban-American deal, and the fact that Lobo was at the dinner convinced them of just the opposite. Unable to see President Batista, Dewey tried to see Amadeo Lopez Castro and Jorge Barroso, both ministers without portfolio and the top government men in Cuba when it comes to sugar. Both accepted a luncheon engagement, then backed out.

Finally Ambassador Gardner got Dewey in to see Martine Saenz, head of the National Bank of Cuba.

"By that time," remarked one Cuban, "Gardner was almost ready to take him to see the president of the Havana Yacht Club."

About this time the New York Journal of Commerce published an account of Dewey's Cuban junket, accompanied by some speculation as to whether sugar-wolf Lobo was still in the Cuban-American Sugar Co. picture.

Repeating this story, the Havana Post put it under the headline, "Dewey or Don't He!"

At this point Thomas E. Dewey, attorney-at-law, went home.

MISTER NOTHING

As part of his Havana strategy, Dewey held a press conference. It was so vacuous that Cuban newsmen later called him "Mister Nada," meaning "Mister Nothing."

Chief news that came out of it was the disclosure that Dewey's law firm also represented a competitor, the South Puerto Rican Sugar Co., whose investments are partly in the Dominican Republic, a country with which Cuba is about to break diplomatic relations.

Later it was also learned that one of the men in the proposed Cuban-American deal, Dewey is Edgar Bronfman, vice president for export of Seagrams Whiskey. Edgar is the son of Sam Bronfman of the great Seagrams Whiskey empire. Yet, while representing Cuba when it comes to the Cuban-American deal, Dewey is also representing another famous whiskey, Schenley, in its triple damage suit against Sam Bronfman.

Many a story has been told about a light in a window or about a flashing beam from a lighthouse tower. Hundreds or thousands of people have found havens from storms as a result of such guides in the charless night.

Newspaper Should Be Voice of Its Citizens, Tate Tells Journalism Students

CARBONDALE, Ill.—The right of citizens to know the facts and the circumstances leading up to those facts ought to be behind the reporting of public events in the newspaper. The newspaper is the conscience of a community and should be the voice of its citizens.

This is what H. Clay Tate, editor of the Bloomington Pantagraph, told a student convocation at Southern Illinois university here this morning where he is appearing as Elijah P. Lovejoy lecturer in journalism Wednesday through Friday. During this time he is meeting with journalism students in classes as well as speaking at a meeting of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association at SIU Friday.

In the opinion of the Bloomington editor, the community newspaper bears a heavy responsibility for the way citizens respond to community problems. This responsibility has grown heavier in modern times because economic factors have made it feasible for only one newspaper to publish satisfactorily in most communities.

Because the newspaper is a regular caller in many of the homes it can and does mold the opinions of the citizens. Tate said it either teaches them to ignore civic affairs and go on their selfish ways, or it arouses them to a consciousness of their responsibilities in making the home town a better place in which to live.

The editor must speak the language of the people and discuss issues which affect them, he said.

"It is sometimes extremely trying to discuss the sins committed at city hall. Yet, if the editor is to play his role in the community, he must discuss them even though he knows it will cause controversy. . . . By and large, readers admire a newspaper which takes a firm stand, even though they may disagree, if the newspaper proves it is sincere, accurate and fair."

"The newspapers don't make the news," he said. "They simply report what citizens do and say, and thus reflect what the citizens of the community are. Some of the most insistent pressures brought to bear upon the newspaper come from everyday citizens who resent having the public know the facts about traffic law violations, divorce litigations, public salary boosts, and so on. Yet all these things are essential public information if society is to establish an orderly pattern. Society cannot be improved by sweeping the unfortunate news under the rug. While individual or organizations may think of news only in terms of whether it affects them favorably, the newspaper must evaluate the news in terms of its importance to the entire readership."

Mrs. F. C. Madden, Grayville, was elected first vice-president and Mrs. Ralph Kirkendall, Grayville, was elected junior director.

Their election took place at the Spring convention which was held at the Carmi Methodist church. Mrs. Roy Milburn, New Burnside, who two years ago appointed Mrs. Miller parliamentarian in the district, presided at the meeting at which her son, L. R. Milburn, athletic director for Greck's Private School for Boys, was a guest speaker.

A foster daughter, Mrs. Herman Smith, Elgin, was a guest soloist. Main speaker was Mrs. Don Williams, president of the state federation. Mrs. Walter N. Sutherland, first vice-president of the IFWC, installed the new officers. Mrs. E. M. Bruce, East St. Louis, director of the Southern Region, and Mrs. Walter Collins, West Frankfort, were other state officers present.

Sixteen were present from Harrisburg, and the Harrisburg club press book won second place in its class in the district press book contest. Fairfield won first and Eldorado won third. Ridgway was the club under 50 members that won first place, Norris City, second. Eldorado Junior Woman's club won first place in the Junior division. Mrs. J. A. Musgrave served as press book chairman.

Mrs. Williams spoke of the Federation projects each club helps to carry on, such as scholarships, aid to blind and deaf students, work among pre-delinquent boys and girls, conservation, etc., and of the unity through diversity that binds club women together in a noble purpose.

Mrs. Milburn's remarks were an analysis of youth with regard to morals, emotions, social maturity and their relation to goodness, truth, kindness and sincerity, the qualities that he warned are threatened.

ened by technical danger signals. Fewer "gadgets" and more "toughening" in the way of developing resourcefulness were recommended by the speaker. He said that maturity helps youth find lasting value in the morals that their parents try to teach.

He paid a beautiful tribute to his mother, who taught school for several years and has remained active and helpful in her community and in the 24th District, urging her to keep up her good work in behalf of other people.

His homage and that of Mrs. Herman Smith, together with the warm appreciation expressed by the club women were a fitting and well deserved climax to Mrs. Milburn's career as a citizen and a club woman.

12 Nations OK Atomic Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower expressed great satisfaction today with the preliminary approval of an international agency to carry out his long-cherished atoms-for-peace program.

Ambassador James Wadsworth, deputy U. S. representative to the United Nations who led the 12-nation negotiations on the agency, disclosed the President's feelings after a call at the White House.

The United States, Russia, and 10 other nations Wednesday approved a draft charter for the international agency which Mr. Eisenhower first proposed in his historic atoms-for-peace address to the United Nations in 1953.

Announcement of the 12-nation agreement came in a brief communique that lacked details of the nature of the charter.

However, informed sources said the charter calls for a board of governors consisting of representatives of 23 countries. The countries were not specified by name, but would consist of 5 principal atomic powers, the 5 principal supplying powers and 13 other countries most concerned with atomic use, picked on a geographical basis.

This would include the United States, Britain, France, Russia and Canada, among others.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Hollywood and Grapevine: Hollywood's striking back at the nation's scandal magazines. A new movie, "Scandal Incorporated," will turn the celluloid heat on the expose editors. . . . Opening of the Cannes International Film Festival has been postponed until April 23. The April 10 opening, it was decided, would be competing with the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier marriage.

There's an eyebrow-lifter coming for movie fans who can remember Hollywood's first $1,000,000 movie back in the '30's. C. B. De Mille is preparing an announcement that his $10,000,000 "The Ten Commandments" contains ONE SEQUENCE that cost $1,000,000.

It's eight minutes of special effects film showing the parting of the Red Sea. The studio used 50 tons of a gelatin dessert on the job. "THE SINNER," Italian film starring Ruth Roman, may not be released in the U. S. There's too much of Ruth showing on the screen. . . . Nancy Valentine, back in the actress arena after three years as a religious disciple, is insisting on nice-girl roles. She makes her comeback in a Jane Wyman telefilm, "Echo of the Past."

Arthur Treacher, the screen's onetime perfect butler, now plays everything from heroes to villains in TV and supplements his income five months a year by playing women's clubs in a one-man act he calls "A Little of This, Something of That." Answering questions about show business for the ladies always gives him a laugh. The two questions he's almost always asked, he says, are:

"Do I know Marilyn Monroe and will radio come back?"

DAWN ADDAMS, who still holds her British citizenship despite her marriage to Italian Prince Vittorio Massimo, is being lashed by London scribes for appearing in a movie titled, "London Calling North Pole" in Rome. They claim that the movie, which tells how the German secret service outguessed British intelligence men during World War II, is anti-British. Her co-star in the movie is Curt Jurgens, the German star recently signed by Hollywood.

A big studio boss finally is admitting TV can be competition for movies.

"But only for inferior movies," says Y. Frank Freeman, head of Paramount. "There is no way that ACTING AGAIN—Lovely Nancy Valentine, who left Hollywood three years ago to become a religious disciple, is back on the screen again. Making her comeback in a Jane Wyman telefilm, "Echo of the Past," she's insisting on nice-girl roles. Nancy has been living in a Yogi seminary in Los Angeles.

TV can compete with great motion pictures."

Lauren Bacall lost the second feminine lead in Marilyn Monroe's "Bus Stop" because of hubby Humphrey Bogart's next, "Melville Goodwin, U.S.A." Both films are starting at the same time. . . . Julie London, ex-wife of Jack Webb, has joined Judy Garland in the race for the Helen Morgan film biography. . . . Edgar Bergen is adding two more dummies to his "Do You Trust Your Wife?" act on TV.

SPEAKING OF Marilyn, and who doesn't, has it ever been pointed out that she was right in turning down both "Pink Tights" and "How to Be Very, Very Popular"? The first script was shelved and the latter didn't do too well at the box office. But with Marilyn in the lead, it could have been a click.

Ray Bolger, who gave up with his telefilm series, wants back on TV with a live show titled "Washington Square." He's put an $87,000 weekly price tag on the show for sponsorship next season.

THANKS!

My sincere thanks to each and every one who voted for me and helped me in any way in the April 10th Primary.

Congratulations to Jimmie Thornton.

USW Outlines Wage Demands

GARY, Ind. (U.P.)—David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, gave a preview of demands for a "substantial" wage increase Wednesday night.

He said the USW will also demand a guaranteed annual wage plan and premium pay for week-end work for its 650,000 members in the basic steel industry.

The USW will not spell out its contract demands until its Wage Policy Committee meets in Pittsburgh May 14-16.

McDonald also said the union has "high hopes" of gaining supplemental unemployment benefits to meet the ordinary living expenses of the man or of a woman.

In addition, he said, the USW will press for "a regular five-day work week—Monday through Friday—such as is enjoyed by the vast majority of other Americans."

The Steelworkers deserve "the privilege of spending their week ends with their families, their neighbors, and their God," McDonald said.

A union spokesman said McDonald's statement was an indication that the USW will try to put premium weekend pay clauses in all its contracts. At present, they are in force only in the can manufacturing industry.

The USW's two-year contracts with basic steel companies expire June 1. McDonald and the union's executive board met here to observe the golden jubilee of this steel-making city.

Hagerty Denies Farm Bill Speech Was Political

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty denies Democratic charges that President Eisenhower's television defense of the farm bill veto was a political speech.

He told the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters convention Wednesday that Mr. Eisenhower went on television Monday night as President of the United States and not as a political candidate.

However, he said it was up to the networks to decide whether to grant the Democratic demands for equal time. It was announced at the convention that the National Broadcasting Co. has granted the Democrats reply time for Monday night, when Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas will answer the President.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were represented by the Mt. Vernon law firm, Craig and Craig, the coal company by Atty. DeWitt Twente of Harrisburg.

Judge Harold L. Zimmerman of Marion, the presiding judge, will return tomorrow to hear non-jury matters.

$100,000 Worth Of Paintings Stolen During Wedding

MONACO (U.P.)—Robbers celebrating during the wedding celebration of Prince Rainier III and Grace Kelly stole paintings worth $100,000 from the home of a wealthy doctor in Monte Carlo, it was disclosed today.

Monaco police once more chose to be as silent as they were on thefts of some $60,000 in jewels from wedding guests at the Hotel de Paris.

But informed sources disclosed the art loss, and the victim's wife declined today to deny it.

The theft apparently occurred Wednesday.

Thieves entered his home at 24 Boulevard des Moulins in the middle of Monte Carlo and carted away several pictures, worth an estimated 35 million francs (about $100,000). Some reports said five pictures were taken.

They included at least one Rubens and a Van Dyck.

Fire Destroys 65-Year-Old Church At East St. Louis

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (U.P.)—The 65-year-old St. Philip Catholic Church here was destroyed by fire Wednesday as firemen stood by helplessly for lack of water pressure.

Brisk winds spread the fire to the convent of the Sisters of Notre Dame next door, but the church rectory and school were not damaged.

No one was reported injured but one fireman was overcome by smoke.

The blaze was believed to have started in a boiler room.

The pastor, Rev. John T. Fournie, could not estimate the damage loss of the church, which seated 400 persons.

Firemen said they were at a loss to explain the lack of water pressure.

Methodists Search Attics, Trunks for Centennial Costumes

Attics and storerooms, trunks and chests are being ransacked these days hunting for costumes for the Methodists' centennial celebration beginning May 6. There will be a prize for the most authentic or "antique" costume worn at the family night pot luck dinner on Wednesday May 9. The women and children are busy getting their bustles and bonnets ready. The men can fix themselves up too if they have a mind to.

The Harrisburg Methodist church is observing its 100th year in existence and the week of May 6 will have several affairs which will be of historical interest as well as inspirational.

As Loyalty Sunday is to be observed nationally on April 29, the minister, the Rev. W. L. Cummins, will deliver his sermon on that date instead of May 6 as first announced.

Louis Yates, 60, former resident of Harrisburg, died Wednesday morning at his home in Highland, Ind.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lena Good Yates, and five children: Carl Yates, John Yates, Mrs. Geneva Keen, Mrs. Shirley Gotard, all of Highland, Ind., and Mrs. Verna Costock of Gary, Ind.; also one brother, Jesse Yates, Raleigh, and three sisters, Mrs. Carrie Stricklin, Mrs. Lula Duffey and Mrs. Hattie Church, all of Harrisburg.

Funeral services will be Friday at 2 p. m. at Highland.

The brother and three sisters left today for the funeral.

Three Killed Near Centralia

CENTRALIA, Ill. (U.P.)—Three men were killed in a head-on collision on Ill. 101 seven miles west of here today.

The dead were identified as Jewell Fowler, 22, Centralia; L. H. Hall, 73, Beckmeyer, and Mark L. Stoniker, 31.

Police said Stoniker was from Ohio but did not immediately learn his home city.

Fowler was driving one auto and police said they believed Stoniker was driving the other.

Mackey's Manner

The mackey has a different swimming apparatus than other fishes. It has no air bladder to give it buoyancy, but strong muscles along its spine column enable it to tuck its fins in close to the body for maximum swimming efficiency.

Grace, Prince Wed in Church; Leave in Yacht

tion for the prince and his princess.

Before the day was out they were to sail away on a honeymoon aboard the prince's august yacht.

Grace's Eyes Glisten

Rainier's chest flashed with decorations. A sword hung at his side. Grace's eyes were glistening and her lips quivered as she fought down early emotion sitting in the red-clothed chair.

At 10:40 a. m., the ancient rites of Rome began.

Grace faced the great altar on Rainier's left. Both sat with hands clasped in their laps while Bishop Giles Barthe read. Grace's eyes were wide. Rainier appeared to be studying the floor.

"Both of you are aware of the duties of marriage which await you," the bishop said. "I will not recall them to you."

In gentle, flowing French he said, "You are both the children of Science lay over the congregation of hundreds as the bishop's 10-minute speech drew to its close at 10:50. He called the marriage a "window of great hopes" and wished them "the simple joy of a united family."

Then Grace's Philadelphia parish priest, Father John A. Carlin, spoke in English.

"Belong to Each Other"

Then he turned to the American priest told him, "Henceforth you belong to each other."

"May this love you have in your hearts today never fall, but grow deeper," he said. By self-sacrifice they could find the deepest happiness, "allotted to man in this world," he said.

"May God always keep you well and happy," Father Carlin concluded at 10:53 a. m.

Then witnesses and robed clergymen gathered and the couple signed the marriage register. The moment of the vows was at hand.

"Will you Rainier Louis Henry Maxence Bertrand, take Grace Patricia, here present, for your lawful wife according to the rite of our Holy Mother, the Church?" the bishop asked in French.

"Je veux (I will)," the prince said.

And then to Grace, the same question. "Grace Patricia, will you take . . ."

"Oui," she said. "Je veux."

Then her eyes turned to his and his to hers. They were man and wife under God as well as law. It was the same Catholic service for the princely pair as that given to their loved subjects.

Sign Marriage Book.

The measured roll of the organ rose as they signed the marriage book.

The voice of the choir rose in low Mass then heard by man and wife at the golden altar.

The "Gloria" was a cry to heaven and the standing newlyweds touched forehead, heart and mouth with the sign of the Cross.

For one instant, Grace turned toward him.

The Communion began with both standing. Rainier holding a prayer book in his hand.

The voices of the choir swelled in Mozart's Sanctus.

Then they knelt together in Communion at the Pri-Dieu in front of them. It was the first time in their married life, with heads bowed.

More than 100,000 National Guardsmen were called to assist duty in the Korean emergency.

NEW YORK—Pittsburgh manager Bobby Bragan began cracking down in earnest today, slapping fines on two of his players. Angered over the Pirates' blowing their second one-run ball game in a row, 5-4, to the Giants Wednesday, Bragan fined outfielder Roberto Clemente $25 for missing a squeeze sign and first baseman Dale Long for the same sum for cutting off a throw which helped New York tie the score in the ninth. Long said, "I'll teach me a lesson and I'll play better ball."

Still boiling, the Pirates' freshman manager announced a 1 a. m. curfew for the entire club and said any violator would be subject to a $500 or $1,000 fine, depending upon the size of his salary.

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—The baseball world today mourned the loss of John A. Heydler, president of the National league for more than 15 years, who died here Wednesday at the age of 86.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick called Heydler "one of the game's greatest figures, who gave everything he had to baseball and left his imprint on it." Frick succeeded Heydler as head of the National league in 1934.

As determined leader, Heydler was credited with helping the game recover from the "Black Sox" scandal of 1919 when public faith in the game was threatened by gamblers' bribes in World Series contests.

The Carrier Mills high school basketball team blossomed out in brand new uniforms at the beginning of the diamond season and Ridgway's baseballers have new uniforms ordered and expect to wear them for the first time when they meet the Bull Dogs at Taylor Field Friday afternoon.

A couple of days ago this department received a news release in the mail from the Bureau of Industrial Service, New York City. It pertains to a very timely subject—baseballs. It was of interest to me and I believe other baseball fans will also enjoy it. Am passing it along in full—

With another major league season on hand, one of the most exciting things about the great game of baseball remains the baseball itself.

A championship team like the Brooklyn Dodgers used more baseballs last season than the entire National League did in its first year in 1876 ... well over a thousand dozen ... the yarn from one year's production of Spalding baseballs ... the only ones ever used in both major leagues ... would, is wound around the four bases without overlapping, create a fence three miles high.

The original 1876 baseball was the same size as its descendant of eighty years later, with a circumference of 9 to 9 1/2 inches. The stitching on the ball of that period, however, was falter and went around the ball only about 75 per cent of the way, not all the way as now ... the weight of the Spalding and Reach major league balls, both produced by Spalding, is 5 to 5 1/4 ounces.

Replicas of the first baseballs made in 1876 were scheduled to be

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

It's knife-and-fork time for a couple of Saline county high school basketball squads.

This evening at 6:30 the Eldorado high school players, cheerleaders and their sponsors will be guests at a dinner in the ETHS cafeteria. Coach Al Adams will award varsity letters and other entertainment has been planned.

The dinner and program is open to the public at $1 per person.

Monday evening, April 23, the Carrier Mills Lions club will entertain the CMHS cagers and cheerleaders. The dinner will be served at the Masonic temple, starting at 6:30.

A part of the evening's program will be the showing of pictures made in Europe by Var. McDonald, who served many months with the U. S. Army in Europe.

This is also a public meeting and tickets are $1.25 each. They may be obtained at the CMHS office or by contacting A. J. Henshaw.

And, in the old days, when the home team had the choice of the ball and there was no uniform size, weight and structure, canny managers would use either a "dead" ball or a "fast" ball depending upon their type of team ... it's different now ... Play ball!

Pirates Lose Two Straight To Giants; Yankees Pound Out 9-5 Win Over Senators

By United Press
Even at this early date it seems like a good time to pick losers in the major league pennant races and don't bet against the Pirates, Orioles, and Senators in the cellar derby.

Manager Bobby Bragan of the Pirates already has started firing his players for what he calls "mistake" and he really is going to sock them for up to $1,000 for violation of the 1 a. m. curfew. He claims the Giants, who have won two in a row from the Bucs, are an ordinary second division team and that the Pirates may beat them out.

By now the Pirates must feel like the poor prize fighter who took a terrific battering but whose manager kept insisting that "The other guy isn't touching you." The prize fighter rejoined that the manager "letter set after the referee then, because somebody was bopping him to pieces."

The Pirates, at least made it tough all the way before losing to the Giants on both days. Willie Mays had to single home the winning run in the last of the ninth for Wednesday's 5-4 Giant victory.

The Yankees pounded out a 9-5 triumph over the Senators at Washington, making it a total of 19 runs in two days against the hapless hurriers of Cholly Dressen. And at Boston, the Red Sox came from behind to defeat Baltimore, 8-4, making it 16 tallies in two days for the Bostonians against the feeble flingers of Paul Richards.

The Kansas City at Detroit game in the American was called off because of cold weather and there were none others scheduled in either loop.

The Giants led comfortably, 3-0 against the Bucs on early rallying that featured successive homers by Fox, Castleman and Gail Harris. The Pirates kayoted Ruben Gomez in the fourth with three runs, one on a homer by Frank Thomas and the same Thomas put them ahead with a second homer in the seventh.

Giants Open Barrage
Trailing, 4-3, the Giants put across a barrage of three singles and a walk without scoring in the ninth, Harris being tossed out at second trying to stretch his hit. Al Dark, with the bases loaded hit a sacrifice fly and Mays followed with the game-breaking single that was over the head of the left fielder and would have been good for extra bases if necessary.

Billy Martin drove in four runs as the Yankees belabored five pitchers in coasting to their triumph at Washington. Pete Runnels hit a homer for the Nats, their fourth in two games. Johnny Kucks was the victor although he needed relief help from Jim Konstanty.

The Red Sox cashed in on a six run rally in the fifth inning in which 12 men came to bat. Jimmy Persall drove in two Boston runs in the big inning with a single and six other Boston batters batted in a run apiece. Bob Porterfield was tapped for two run homers in the first inning by Gus Triandos and in the fourth by Tito Francona, but aside from that he gave up only three other hits.

State Outlines Raccoon Dog and Field Trial Laws

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Dog owners and handlers were reminded today that the season for training hunting dogs closed April 1.

Section 47 of the Game Code declares it unlawful to pursue wild birds or animals protected by the code from April 1 through August 15, and declares further that raccoon hunting dogs shall not be trained from April 1 to September 1, both inclusive.

Director Glen D. Palmer of the Illinois Department of Conservation pointed out, however, that field trials may be held during the closure period by getting a permit from the department. Such trials are limited by law to daylight hours of from sunrise to sunset.

In the case of coon dog field trials, Director Palmer explained that it is permissible to use hand-reared raccoons as lead coons to establish scent for the dogs in the trial. He cautioned that such domestic raccoons may be used for no other purpose, such as the illegal "Coon-on-Log" exhibition which is not authorized under the Game Code, and is illegal under the Criminal Code.

Cease Fire by Israel, Egypt

JERUSALEM — Israel and Egypt have agreed to a cease fire, the United Nations announced today.

The agreement covers a complete cease fire along their much-troubled borders, the office of the United Nations truce supervisory organization here said.

The agreement came as a result of the current peace mission to the Middle East by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Its acceptance by Israel and Egypt means that the key objective of the mission assigned Hammarskjöld by the U. N. Security Council has been achieved.

It will prevent further clashes between the two sides and dampen the possibility of an Arab-Israeli war, which had threatened to set the whole Mideast aflame.

A U. N. spokesman said the Israeli and Egyptian governments notified Hammarskjöld that as from 6 p. m. (10 a. m. CST) Wednesday, orders were in force on both sides that "no military or para-military forces, including non-regular forces, may shoot across the demarcation line or pass over that line for any purpose whatsoever."

County Sales Tax Proposed at Convention Of Illinois Officials

SPRINGFIELD — A 1-2 cent county sales tax was proposed today at the 69th annual convention of the Illinois Association of County Officials.

The proposal was contained in a resolution presented on behalf of the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors by Chairman Wetzel G. Harness. The St. Clair County Board has already adopted a similar resolution.

The resolution calls for the State Legislature to amend the sales tax law to allow counties, by vote of the county board, to impose a 1-2 cent sales tax in unincorporated areas of a county.

The tax would be in addition to the 2 1/2 per cent state sales tax. The 1955 Legislature passed a law permitting cities to levy a 1/2 cent sales tax.

HOW COLUMBIA AGRICULTURE LIMESTONE HELPS KEEP YOUR FARM PRODUCTIVE

When you apply COLUMBIA AGRICULTURE LIMESTONE to your farm you accomplish numerous important things at one and the same time.

1. You replace the calcium and magnesium (LIME) which has been lost through cropping.
2. The acid condition of your soil, which has developed as the result of the loss of LIME, is corrected—that is, the soil is "sweetened."
3. The activity of favorable bacteria is stimulated; the decay of organic matter, such as manure, straw, roots and stubble, is hastened; and the nitrogen forming processes are promoted.
4. Other plant foods, especially phosphorus, are kept in more available form.
5. Soil structure is improved; heavy clays and silts are made looser and easier to till.

LIME a part of your farm each year. COLUMBIA AGRICULTURE LIMESTONE will return at least $3.00 for each $1.00 invested in your liming program. Your COLUMBIA AGLIME DEALER is:

Virginia Haskins, Former Eldorado Girl, Guest Soloist at SIU Music Festival

One of America's top lyric sopranos, Virginia Haskins, who spent several years of her life in Eldorado, will be guest soloist at the Seventh Annual Spring Music festival at Southern Illinois university May 12.

Miss Haskins lived in Eldorado when her father, the late Lee Haskins, was superintendent of the Dering coal mine for a number of years. A sister, Mrs. Virgil B. Rieder, resides in Eldorado.

Miss Haskins was born in Centralia and lived in Zeigler after her family left Eldorado.

The radio, television, opera, musical comedy and concert star headlines a program including more than 3,000 young musicians from 41 southern Illinois grade schools and high schools. The colorful affair, popularly known as "Music Under the Stars," begins at 7:30 p. m. in McAndrew Stadium.

Miss Haskins' musical career began during her high school days at Zeigler when she won a singing contest. Her decisive victory led to two years of study under Bernard Ferguson in St. Louis.

Under the sponsorship of Rosa Raisa, Chicago opera diva, she made her operatic debut at the Verona, Italy, Opera House, singing Gilda in "Rigoletto." An immediate success, she returned to America and was engaged by the Chicago Opera company.

During her Chicago stay she appeared on the "Chicago Theater of the Air," the "Texaco Star Theater," "The Railroad Hour" and "The Standard Oil Hour." She is still a favorite with big-time musical shows.

In 1947, Miss Haskins was awarded the lead in the Broadway production of "Carousel," but left at the peak of the season to join the New York City Opera company. During four years with that group she was recognized by Samuel Chotzinoff, producer of the NBC-TV "Opera Theater," who signed her for leading roles. She has appeared in eight full length opera telecasts, two of them winning Peabody Awards.

Sharing the Festival spotlight with the concert star and the massed bands and choruses will be the national champion Joliet High

Virginia Haskins

School band, the Marion Harris Boy Scout Indians Dancers, the vocal winner of the Southern Illinois Music Contest at SIU on the morning of the 12th, and Austin Gibson, veteran Vienna music educator who is this year's "Honored Musician."

In case of rain on the 12th, Miss Haskins will be presented in concert at Shryock Auditorium, and the remainder of the program will be postponed to Saturday, May 19.

First Baptist Men's Classes Visit Prison at Menard

The men's Sunday school classes of adult department No. 2 of the First Baptist church visited the Southern Illinois Penitentiary at Menard on Sunday, April 15, when they were guests of Warden Ross Randolph, at dinner in the prison officers' dining room.

They were guided on a tour of the prison by Capt. L. C. Lence, and attended the morning services in the chapel prison, where they heard the beautiful organ music of Dean Hamilton, of Harrisburg, chapel organist.

They learned that there are at present 2,149 inmates, and that the state prison at Menard has had 25,097 inmates up to date. The average age is 37.

They learned that 600,000 pounds of flour, 120,000 pounds of sugar, and 50,000 pounds of coffee are used annually in the prison kitchens. This year approximately 75,000 cans of food will be vacuum packed as crops are harvested, and hogs and cattle are butchered on the prison farm, which consists of 2,240 acres, 13 acres of which are within the prison wall.

On the grim side was their inspection of the electric chair, in which a woman was put to death in 1937, the last legal execution at this prison.

TB Deaths Drop in Mental Hospitals

WATSEKA, Ill. (U.P.)—Deaths from tuberculosis have dropped 88 percent in Illinois state mental hospitals during the past 11 years, Public Welfare Director Otto L. Bettag said Tuesday.

"If it is possible to bring tuberculosis under rigid control in a state mental hospital, it should be possible to do it anywhere," he told a meeting of the Iroquois County Tuberculosis Assn.

The TB rate of mental patients upon admission to state hospitals is 10 times that of the general public, Bettag said. However, he said, the development of new cases in the hospitals has slumped 92 percent during the 11-year period.

Canvass Reveals 9,716 Votes in County; 5,131 GOP, 4,585 Democrat

The canvassed vote for precinct committeemen for both parties at all 34 precincts of Saline county was made available yesterday.

Previously the winners were announced, but since the vote was not available for all the races, the figures were held up until after the canvass.

In most cases candidates were unopposed. And usually when a voter's total was very small, it was a write-in vote.

The Angry Hills

THE STORY: Mike Morrison, an American, has been caught by the German invasion of Greece in 1941. He has memorized a coded list of Underground leaders the Germans want. He was captured, but escaped from a prisoner of war train. Injured, he awakens in a house owned by Christos Yalouris.

XIII

"Many of you Englezos soldiers jumped off the prison train," Christos said. "The people knew it would be only a matter of a day before the Germans searched the place. Most of the other British soldiers moved into the hills."

"Go on, please."

"Fortunately, a member of my crew happened to be visiting the house in Nauplion when you came. You were unconscious and unable to move. You were put aboard my boat. I brought you here."

"You are a fisherman, then?"

"I, Christos, am sole owner of the mill in Paleochora," he announced with much pride. "I keep the boat for—er—trading—and other purposes." Christos winked slyly to indicate his boat was engaged in some sort of business not generally accepted as legitimate practice by the law.

At the end of a week, a doctor came from Dadi, unwrapped the bandages, examined Mike's injuries and declared him a lucky young man.

With Eleftheria's help he wobbled from the cottage dressed in a coarse set of peasant's clothes. Melpo supplied him with a heavy cane. With the help of the cane and one arm around Eleftheria, he made his way from the cottage into the sunlight, through Melpo's vegetable garden and out the gate.

Out in the main square, he was mobbed with well-wishers. Mothers and daughters arrived from their cottages, and men dropped their plows and came from the fields.

Michael Morrison, the cynic, the scoffer at sentiment, was deeply moved by it all.

The village of Paleochora lay peacefully on the slope of a hill within sight of the island-dotted Aegean Sea. It was much like any other village in the province.

Mike and Eleftheria would walk hand in hand past the Church of the Prophet Elias to a stream which flowed past a clearing thick with pine needles. In the peace and serenity of the pastoral scene he often found it difficult to concentrate on his Greek lessons. She would throw her head back and laugh at his efforts to pronounce the S and the Z with proper softness. Mike would suddenly find himself patting her olive cheek, or when he put his arm about her waist, he noticed that her childlike face acquired a sleepy feminine look. They would be silent for long periods.

He had little occasion to say more than "hello" to the two British escapees in Paleochora. Mike studiously avoided the transients who hid out in the church. He did get trapped into several conversations with an Australian who called himself Bluey. Bluey stayed with a family just a few cottages away from Christos. Bluey, aside from repeating the story of his escape from the Stalag at Corinth, did reveal something of interest to Mike. It seemed that many wealthy Greek families in Athens had provided boats for British soldiers to escape to North Africa. Mike filed it as an ace in the hole should anything go wrong in his attempt to contact Dr. Harry Thackeray.

When Mike inquired as to how Bluey would get to Athens, Bluey didn't quite know. Every train was loaded with inspectors. Travel passes were needed to budge an inch in the country.

"Know somethin', Jay? You talk like those Yanks I seen in the flicks."

That, Mike explained, was because he worked for a shipping company in San Francisco for 14 years.

After dinner, Christos shoed Melpo and Eleftheria from the room and the two settled back.

"Christos, I'll put it straight.

"I've got to get to Athens."

"You do not like it here?"

"I like it here very much."

"Then why you want to leave? You'll be picked up for sure."

"You know why, Christos. I endanger the whole village. They burned a village yesterday for harboring an escapee. Besides, as a soldier, it is my duty to escape."

"The crop looks fine this year, Jay. I have a profitable proposition being worked out. I will be able to get some property in Athens."

Mike gritted his teeth. "Now that I'm all well again you'd better send Eleftheria back to Der-nica. I know your mother must need her."

"My aged mother stays at the home of a brother. She is fine."

"Christos, I no longer have need for a nurse."

Christos stared at Mike as though he were a crazy man. "You do not like the girl?"

"Well—the fact is, I like her—well, maybe too much. It is a rather delicate situation. Well, look at it this way. You're a man. You know how things might happen. You see, I like you very much, Christos, and I wouldn't want to bring anyone any unhappiness."

"Jay, you talk like a fool."

"Well, what I'm actually trying to say—it might lead to complications if she stays."

"Complications. You say you like her?"

"Yes—but . . ."

"She wants to stay. You like her—settled, she stays!"

The two men stared at each other for several moments like stubborn roosters. Mike was disturbed by Christos' sly fox act.

Widowed Mother of Two Slain Boys Announces Plans to Marry Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Schuessler, the most poignant living victim of Chicago's triple murder, announced today she will marry again.

The 37-year-old widow revealed her engagement exactly six months after her two sons and a friend were murdered. Less than a month after the tragedy, her husband died of a grief-induced heart attack.

She smiled when she made the announcement that she will marry a widower, Valentine (Bud) Kujawa. He has two children who will try to fill the place of the murdered boys in their new mother's heart.

It was the first time newsmen had seen Mrs. Schuessler smile since the tragedy left her utterly alone.

On Oct. 18 last year, the naked, mutilated bodies of three young boys were found in a ditch. Two of the dead boys were Mrs. Schuessler's only children, John, 13, and Anton, 11. The third was their friend, 13-year-old Robert Peterson.

On Nov. 11, Mrs. Schuessler's husband, Anton, entered a sanitarium. His health had broken under the strains of the tragedy. While doctors were examining him, he suffered a fatal heart attack.

The next day, Mrs. Schuessler said "I have nothing now. Everything there was to live for is gone."

Mrs. Schuessler now has something to live for but she is reluctant to talk about her future life.

Allen to Address Educational Council of 100

CARBONDALE, Ill. — John W. Allen, historical writer at Southern Illinois university, will speak Sunday, April 22, at the semi-annual meeting of the Educational Council of 100, Inc., in Carbondale.

The Council is composed of school people and laymen interested in promoting educational interests in southern Illinois.

Beginning at 3 p. m., the program also will include a tour of Southern's new library, a business session and a 6 o'clock dinner. Mrs. Edward H. Schaller, Waterloo, Council president, will preside.

Main topic of the discussion will be development of the Council's school camping site at Little Grassy Lake. A membership campaign in Jackson and Williamson counties to raise funds for building a road in the camp area already has brought in $1200, according to Mrs. Jo Ann Boydston, executive director.

Robert E. McBride, assistant professor of recreation and outdoor education at SIU, is in charge of the Little Grassy project. He succeeds Norman Beck, Monroe County superintendent of schools, who served as chairman of the camp committee during the early months of the camp activation drive.

Operation Think Placed in Practice In 3 High Schools

SPRINGFIELD — A pioneer project labeled "Operation Think" has been placed in practice in three Illinois high schools to teach students to apply analytical thinking to what they learn in school.
State Supt. of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell announced the new program today and said it is being used at Evanston, New Trier and Niles Township high schools.
About 40 consultants from the Illinois curriculum program and the University of Illinois College of Education are assisting with the program.

An example of how the program works, Nickell said, would be an assignment on a set of remarks about a current topic. Students would be asked to distinguish which of the remarks were observable facts, which were judgments, which inferences or interpretations.

Nickell said the program would aid the participating schools in developing instructional materials for teachers, discovering the best ways to stimulate student critical thinking and familiarizing teachers with the principles of logical thinking and scientific methods.

'Sugar and Spice'
No Help to Boys

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — "The old adage about girls, "sugar and spice and everything nice," may account for delayed social adjustment of the sexes, according to a University of Tennessee graduate.

Mrs. Shirley Krutilla, who recently received a master's degree in special education, said a study of teacher attitudes indicates that many wish their male students would "behave as well" as girls.

Mrs. Krutilla said teachers who place too high a value on each boy being "a perfect little gentleman" may delay social adjustment of the children in later years. This attitude also may slow the boys' development into well-adjusted, self-confident adults.

Mrs. Krutilla's study further showed that "vice as much as dissonance between boys and girls exists where seating arrangements are based on sex or where more boys than girls fail courses.

Columbus discovered the Virgin Islands on his second voyage to the New World. The largest he named Holy Cross — in Spanish, Santa Cruz. The others he named Santa Ursula y las Once Mil Virgenes, in honor of St. Ursula and the 11,000 Virgins.

Simplicity to Mark Margaret's Big Day

By MARY KAY FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent
INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—(NEA)—When Grace Kelly kneels at the altar to become the bride of Prince Rainier in the storybook setting of Monaco, another American girl named Margaret Truman will be getting ready for her simple wedding in this pioneer Missouri town.

Grace's civil wedding on April 18 was in the 18th Century palace that overlooks the fabulous Riviera. From the pink-walled palace, a 300-yard red carpet led to the cathedral for the next day's religious rites; the route to the altar was through a courtyard festooned with flags, priceless tapestries and regal emblems.

On April 25, Margaret Truman, daughter of former President Harry S. Truman, will ride behind an inconspicuous police escort to the small, red brick church where she will wed Clifton Daniel, New York newspaperman, in a 12-minute ceremony. The mellow Trinity Episcopal church building, constructed in 1880, stands between a the reception. The guests — members of the families and close friends — will circulate around entrance hall, parlor, music room, den, dining room and screened porch.

Tiny Monaco, where Grace became a Princess, has a 700-year-old history of independence, a thousand-year-old Grimaldo dynasty. To some it resembles a fairyland; its 345 acres crammed with palaces and chateaus have been described as "Graustark on the Riviera."

Margaret's hometown, which sprawls uncrowded over 15 square miles, is typically Midwestern with a touch of the Old South. The streets are clean, the homes well-kept. It boasts a New World heritage that dates back to 1827, when Independence was the starting point for wagon trains setting out on the Santa Fe, Oregon and California trails for the Golden West.

Margaret's maternal great grandparents were among the early settlers of the community which now has a population of 50,000.

In this setting, Margaret is sure to feel at home on her wedding day. The protocol will be purely American.

Grand Opening of Dallas Market in Carrier Mills Saturday

Everett Dallas, owner and operator of the Dallas Market in Carrier Mills, has announced a grand opening of the food and meat market for Saturday, April 21.

Mr. Dallas purchased the grocery department of the Wasson store in Carrier Mills several months ago and has been active in the operation since that time. The grand opening will be this week end.

Special prices, door prizes and gifts for the kiddies are included for the Saturday grand opening.

Pretty Foxy
DES MOINES, Ia. — Two men went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fox while they were out of town. They asked the housekeeper if they could trap foxes along the creek that runs through the Fox property.

"You'll have to ask Mr. Fox and both Mr. and Mrs. Fox are out of town right now," she said.

The hunters, thinking the woman was trying to be funny, stalked off in a huff.

Col. Armstrong Explains Draft Rule Changes

Changes in regulations and the new reserve program have been explained to Selective Service officials by Col. Paul G. Armstrong, director of Selective Service in Illinois.

Col. Armstrong said the new changes in Selective Service regulations resulted from congressional action and executive orders.

One of the most significant of these, he said, is the new sequence in which men are selected by their local boards for induction. Formerly men in Class I-A were called according to age, the oldest first. Now men 19 to 26 without children must be called before those with children and those 26 or over, while youths between 18½ and 19 are called first. This change was made because the armed forces prefer younger men without family or business obligations.

Unless evidence of children or the wife's pregnancy is submitted to the local board before a man is ordered for induction the board cannot consider it, Colonel Armstrong cautioned. He emphasized that it is each man's duty to keep his board informed of all changes in his marital, family, dependency or occupational status and of any change in address or physical condition.

Selective Service has vital responsibilities under the new reserve forces program, Colonel Armstrong stated. Local boards will have the duty of inducing men who fail to meet training requirements as members of the Ready Reserve.

In addition, the boards will screen all members of the Standby Reserve to determine which ones will be available for active duty in case of emergency.

Another important function is to select for enlistment in the Ready Reserve men over 18½ who have critical skills and are engaged in critical defense industry or research. Members of the Ready Reserve can be called to duty by order of the president (up to one million men) while the Standby Reserve can only be called by act of congress.

No other truck can offer you as much as a new 1956 GMC

LOOK at the facts — no matter what kind of truck you need.

GMC's new light-duty power plants have as much as 16.2% greater displacement than the nearest competition. H.P.'s been upped as much as 20%. V8's are the latest in short-stroke design.

In the new half-tonners, a brand-new fast-ratio cruising axle gives you all the efficiencies of overdrive. And it's an option at a fraction of overdrive's usual price.

A new ride stabilizer gives Blue Chip light-duties remarkable new riding comfort. No need to fight the steering-wheel—even on the poorest roads.

All GMC's now have a 12-volt electrical system. Tubeless tires are standard equipment. And a new boulevard styling makes a GMC far and away the best advertisement you can run.

In short, new 1956 Blue Chip GMC's are just about as impressive a line as you've ever seen. Values are even more remarkable. Drop by and see for yourself!
